Type of Business
The Follieri Group, LLC is a Manhattan-based real estate investment and development organization that practices real estate with a Catholic conscience.
The Follieri Group was formed to assist the Catholic Church by purchasing, as principals, the Church's properties and then renovating them for uses such as low and middle income housing, community centers, daycare facilities, senior citizen housing, places of worship, offices and retail spaces.
The Follieri Group works with Catholic dioceses, religious orders and institutions throughout the United States. In developing properties that were formerly schools, churches, rectories, and other sacred buildings, we seek to develop land in a manner that is consistent both with what is good for the community and that honors the Catholic legacy and tradition for which the buildings were initially used.
A portion of The Follieri Group's revenues support the Follieri Foundation. In addition to providing economic and financial assistance to local communities, the Foundation provides significant funding, and other resources, to impoverished areas of South America. These resources are earmarked for housing, education, medical and cultural enrichment programs where they are most direly needed. ■

SCULPTURE WORKS/BARRY WOODS JOHNSTON, SCULPTOR

Baltimore, MD 21207
Tel.: (410) 448-1945
E-mail: barry@sculptorjohnston.com

Type of Business:

After earning a B.S. in architecture from Georgia Institute of Technology, Barry Woods Johnston studied at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, the National Academy of Design and the Enzo Cardini, Nerina Simi, and Romanelli Studios in Florence. Johnston is fluent in Italian, and partially fluent in German and Chinese.

Regarding Johnston's work, one critic called him "A mystic in metal." Subjects show rich array of symbolism, are generally upbeat, and are derived from mythology, religion, literature, psychology and the contemporary dilemma. Portraiture is a forte. Recent commissions includ two life-size figures for Govan's Presbyterian Church i Baltimore and a relief for the Catholic College of Notr Dame in Baltimore. Other public commissions include 141/2' bronze for the front of the City Hall in Hamptor Virginia, a 191/2' bronze for the entrance of Lafayett Center in Washington, D.C. and a 7' "Mother and Child for Evanston Women's Hospital in Illinois.

As Johnston states, "My job is to visualize and the breathe life into an appropriate concept for a client. I see to capture the client's vision. I strive to grasp the heart c what makes life worthwhile, to transcend materialism grasping the heart of what makes life worthwhile, explor ing questions about whom we are as we consider wher we've been and where we are going. My sculptures ar often light and lively in feelings. My subjects are gener ally upbeat, both imaginative and realistic. I seek to com pliment an architectural setting while adding levity movement, and humanity. Clothing is rendered in faith ful detail, but with flowing movement and compositiona unity. My training in architecture gives me a high regar for aesthetics and a desire to integrate art into its archi tectural setting. Many of my pieces incorporate micro an macro symbolism. In other words, an overall design, as macro expression, is often symbolically extracted from micro observation in nature. Or again said, when creat ing a sculpture, I look for an abstract form that symboli cally embodies the overall vision and then integrate tha abstraction into a realistic statement." ■

Type of Business:
CAPITOL LIGHTING DESIGN & RESTORATION is a company whose two new owners in association with its two founders and senior business associates have a history in the lighting industry dating back to the 1950's. It is a company that continues to be totally dedicated to supplying quality products and delivering them on schedule. Due to the background of its management, CAPITOL LIGHTING is sensitive to the needs of its clients. Designers need accurate drawings and information on time. Owners and contractors need adherence to schedules with equipment delivered in good condition and in conformance with approved coordination drawings.

The newest additions to CAPITOL LIGHTING's management team, Suzanne Bayer and Paul J. Bayer in association with it's founders, Brenda Hoyt and John Fuchs, bring their own and unique talents to the organization making it unrivaled in the lighting industry. CAPITOL LIGHTING's associates include a metal sculptor with a Master of Fine Arts degree; another metal sculptor whose special interest is 19th century gas and oil lighting fixtures and their early conversion to electric usage; two foundry specialists, one for short custom production runs, the other for production runs using the traditional lost wax process. In this process, CAPITOL LIGHTING DESIGN & RESTORATION is able to offer bronze chandeliers of extraordinary quality. CAPITOL LIGHTING DESIGN & RESTORATION has also successfully modified existing and antique lighting equipment to make use of newly developed light sources. It continues to be a corporate philosophy to restore old fixtures rather than discard them and supply new replacements; it is a philosophy much appreciated by sensitive clients and continues to be adopted by its new owners.

In addition to restoring and supplying ornamental lighting equipment, CAPITOL LIGHTING DESIGN & RESTORATION has carved a niche for itself in the design of special lighting equipment largely unavailable from other suppliers. Whether it is the design of ornamental exit signs or small accent lights to be installed in very limited spaces—CAPITOL LIGHTING DESIGN & RESTORATION has always prevailed in the face of difficult design challenges.

It is safe to say that no other ornamental lighting fixture supplier can claim to have this type of expertise at its disposal or within its own corporate structure-it is a fertile environment conducive to the promotion and fulfillment of the design process. ■

Type of Business:
CAPITOL LIGHTING DESIGN & RESTORATION is a company whose two new owners in association with its two founders and senior business associates have a history in the lighting industry dating back to the 1950's. It is a company that continues to be totally dedicated to supplying quality products and delivering them on schedule. Due to the background of its management, CAPITOL LIGHTING is sensitive to the needs of its clients. Designers need accurate drawings and information on time. Owners and contractors need adherence to schedules with equipment delivered in good condition and in conformance with approved coordination drawings.

The newest additions to CAPITOL LIGHTING's management team, Suzanne Bayer and Paul J. Bayer in association with it's founders, Brenda Hoyt and John Fuchs, bring their own and unique talents to the organization making it unrivaled in the lighting industry. CAPITOL LIGHTING's associates include a metal sculptor with a Master of Fine Arts degree; another metal sculptor whose special interest is 19th century gas and oil lighting fixtures and their early conversion to electric usage; two foundry specialists, one for short custom production runs, the other for production runs using the traditional lost wax process. In this process, CAPITOL LIGHTING DESIGN & RESTORATION is able to offer bronze chandeliers of extraordinary quality. CAPITOL LIGHTING DESIGN & RESTORATION has also successfully modified existing and antique lighting equipment to make use of newly developed light sources. It continues to be a corporate philosophy to restore old fixtures rather than discard them and supply new replacements; it is a philosophy much appreciated by sensitive clients and continues to be adopted by its new owners.

In addition to restoring and supplying ornamental lighting equipment, CAPITOL LIGHTING DESIGN & RESTORATION has carved a niche for itself in the design of special lighting equipment largely unavailable from other suppliers. Whether it is the design of ornamental exit signs or small accent lights to be installed in very limited spaces—CAPITOL LIGHTING DESIGN & RESTORATION has always prevailed in the face of difficult design challenges.

It is safe to say that no other ornamental lighting fixture supplier can claim to have this type of expertise at its disposal or within its own corporate structure-it is a fertile environment conducive to the promotion and fulfillment of the design process. ■

2423 Pickwick Road
Baltimore, MD 21207
Tel.: (410) 448-1945
E-mail: barry@sculptorjohnston.com
Web Site: www.sculptorjohnston.com

Type of Business:
After earning a B.S. in architecture from Georgia Institute of Technology, Barry Woods Johnston studied at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, the National Academy of Design and the Enzo Cardini, Nerina Simi, and Romanelli Studios in Florence. Johnston is fluent in Italian, and partially fluent in German and Chinese.
Regarding Johnston's work, one critic called him "A mystic in metal." Subjects show rich array of symbolism, are generally upbeat, and are derived from mythology, religion, literature, psychology and the contemporary dilemma. Portraiture is a forte. Recent commissions include two life-size figures for Govan's Presbyterian Church in Baltimore and a relief for the Catholic College of Notre Dame in Baltimore. Other public commissions include a 141/2' bronze for the front of the City Hall in Hampton, Virginia, a 191/2' bronze for the entrance of Lafayette Center in Washington, D.C. and a 7' "Mother and Child" for Evanston Women's Hospital in Illinois.
As Johnston states, "My job is to visualize and then breathe life into an appropriate concept for a client. I seek to capture the client's vision. I strive to grasp the heart of what makes life worthwhile, to transcend materialism, grasping the heart of what makes life worthwhile, exploring questions about whom we are as we consider where we've been and where we are going. My sculptures are often light and lively in feelings. My subjects are generally upbeat, both imaginative and realistic. I seek to compliment an architectural setting while adding levity, movement, and humanity. Clothing is rendered in faithful detail, but with flowing movement and compositional unity. My training in architecture gives me a high regard for aesthetics and a desire to integrate art into its architectural setting. Many of my pieces incorporate micro and macro symbolism. In other words, an overall design, as a macro expression, is often symbolically extracted from a micro observation in nature. Or again said, when creating a sculpture, I look for an abstract form that symbolically embodies the overall vision and then integrate that abstraction into a realistic statement." ■

There's a lot of ways to raise money. But how do you raise the level of commitment and increase the faith of your people to the point where they can believe God for great things? At Cargill Associates, we have the answer. A time-tested full-service stewardship development program that focuses on faith building, not fund raising. Utilizing our exclusive Pre-Campaign Feasibility Study and InFocus Stewardship Workshop, we help assess the need, determine the mission, clarify the vision, and cultivate the support to ensure your campaign is a success. The relic collection is under the care of the Sisters of the Precious Blood who arrived in the area from Switzerland in 1846 for the purpose of serving the spiritual needs of the German-speaking pioneers. Perpetual Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament and teaching were hallmarks of the Sisters' first one hundred years in the area. The Sisters staff the Shrine to this day.
The Heritage Museum was opened in 1992. Exhibits include artifacts and artwork, collections and treasures from the 19th and 20th century lives of the Sisters and of early settlers to the area—largely of German descent and of the Roman Catholic Faith.
